Owner of Bondi Body Tea, Anne McWilliam advises to make the most of the tea revival. "Although the health benefits of tea have been known for thousands of years, tea is currently undergoing a major style and wellness revival. New research has shown that all forms of tea are full of antioxidants and disease fighting compounds that taste delicious whilst having an amazing impact on your health and wellbeing. Enjoying the health benefits of tea and encouraging clients to partake in the wellness revolution can be as simple as selecting and sipping on the right kind of tea so select a range that has been expertly crafted by herbalists and carefully infused with only the finest premium organic and pesticide free ingredients."
